

Privacy Statement

Security Personnel, Inc. recognizes privacy and security as a concern for itself and individuals accessing the Internet. This describes the privacy policy and the security measures we take to protect personal information. By using our Web Site, you consent to the collection and use of your information by Security Personnel, Inc. as set forth in the policy. If there are any changes to our policy, the changes will be posted on the Web Site. You must check back periodically to ensure you have the most current policy.

What information is collected?

Security Personnel, Inc. collects personally-identifiable information, including name, title, company, address, e-mail address, phone numbers, etc. You are not required to provide information to obtain access to any part of our Web Site.

Our Web Site server also collects the domain names of visitors to our Web Site. This information is aggregated to measure number of visits, average time spent on the Security Personnel, Inc. Web Site, pages viewed, etc. We use this information to measure the use of our Web Site and to improve content.

Who is collecting the information?

When you are on the Security Personnel, Inc. Web Site and are asked for personal information, you are sharing that information with Security Personnel, Inc.. The Security Personnel, Inc. Web Site may contain various links to third-party Web sites. These sites may provide additional information, goods, services and/or promotions. These sites are owned and operated independently of Security Personnel, Inc., and have their own separate privacy and data collection practices. Any information you provide to these Web sites will be governed under the terms of their privacy policy, if any. Security Personnel, Inc. has no responsibility or liability whatsoever for the independent actions or policies of these independent sites, and is not responsible for the content or privacy practices of such sites.

How is my information used?

Security Personnel, Inc.'s primary goal in collecting personal information is to facilitate business relationships and to enable us to contact you to fulfill requests. This information may also be used to provide you with a customized experience on our site, which includes interactive communications, and other services.

The Security Personnel, Inc. site may also contain forms asking for information. We use the information you provide to help us design and build better services, to customize your experience, and to provide advice and recommendations. Taking part in any of these segments is always optional.

We also use the information we collect to help target valuable marketing and advertising offers. This kind of advertising may be done with banner ads as well as promotional emails sent by Security Personnel, Inc., or by third parties under contract with Security Personnel, Inc.

Security Personnel, Inc. may perform research on our users' demographics, interests, and behavior based on the information provided to us when making a request, during a promotion, from surveys and from our server log files. We do this to better understand and serve our users. This research is compiled and analyzed on an aggregated basis to prevent identification of personal information relating to any one individual. Security Personnel, Inc. may share this aggregated data with our business partners.

With whom does Security Personnel, Inc. share my information?

Except as outlined in this policy or on our web site, it is Security Personnel, Inc.'s policy not to provide your personal information to third-parties without your consent.

Security Personnel, Inc. may match user information with third party data to help us better understand our customers (customer profiling). Security Personnel, Inc. may also disclose aggregated user statistics in order to describe our Web site to prospective business partners, advertisers, and other third parties, and for other lawful purposes.
